

AGRICULTURE & FOOD PRODUCTS

THRIVING IN WYOMING

Why
WYOMING
?

#1 IN THE US
BUSINESS-FRIENDLY
TAX CLIMATE

NO

CORPORATE OR STATE
INCOME TAX

NO

INVENTORY, FRANCHISE, OCCUPATION OR VALUE-
ADDED TAXES

LOW

PROPERTY AND SALES TAXES

PLENTY UNLIMITED INC.

After spending nearly a decade advancing the emerging technology field of indoor agriculture, Plenty Unlimited Inc. announced in February it would be building the world's largest and most advanced vertical farming research center in Laramie, Wyoming. According to Plenty CEO Arama Kukutai, "Creating this new center of excellence greatly expands Plenty's ability to transform indoor agriculture."

MOUNTAIN MEADOW WOOL

This family-operated mill in Buffalo is dedicated to supporting local ranchers and to revitalizing the American wool industry with eco-friendly operations. Each product, including their signature Mountain Merino wool, has unparalleled comfort and quality and can be traced to its ranch of origin.

WYOMING LEGACY MEATS

Just outside of Yellowstone Park lies Cody, Wyoming, home of Wyoming Legacy Meats. Wyoming Legacy Meats is a processing plant built on time-honored traditions while employing the best in modern practices. Living off the land is a way of life in Wyoming, and we want to help keep family ranches alive and thriving for the next generation. We support local ranchers and farmers.

THE BEST FRONTIER FOR BUSINESS

INDUSTRY DIVERSITY

Wyoming is home to diverse businesses within the ag industry. From beef and lamb producers to local brewers, distillers and coffee roasters, our rural communities help these businesses thrive.

Local farmers grew hemp for the first time across the state in 2020, helping to diversify the production industry and our economy.

Innovative tech companies are cropping up across the state and work in close partnership with the University of Wyoming to prepare the future workforce.

SUPPORT & TRAINING

Besides the University of Wyoming, there are seven community colleges located across the state, all of which work closely with local businesses to create programming that aligns with the needs of agri-business, farm and ranch management and beef production.

The Wyoming Asia Pacific Trade Office (APTO), housed in the Taipei World Trade Center, connects producers in Wyoming to food buyers in the Asia Pacific Region. As a direct result, Wyoming beef, distilled spirits, beer and cereal products can now be purchased throughout Taiwan.

RICH CULTURE

Wyoming enjoys easy access to year-round recreation opportunities and wide open spaces. Here, the great outdoors and economic opportunity go hand-in-hand, making Wyoming home to a burgeoning agri-tourism industry.

TRAINING A SKILLED WORKFORCE

The Wyoming Workforce Development Training Fund awards grants of up to $5,000 to each employee every year. Find out more by visiting dws.wyo.gov/dws-division/business-training-support-unit/workforce-development-training-fund

SEE HOW WYOMING MIGHT BE A GREAT FIT FOR YOUR BUSINESS.

VISIT WWW.WHYWYOMING.ORG.

SEE WYOMING PROPERTIES AT WWW.WYOMINGSITES.COM.

Jill Tregemba
Agribusiness Development Manager
jill.tregemba@wyo.gov | 307.214.1294

ACCESS TO MARKETS

9 COMMERCIAL AIRPORTS

Accessible from Salt Lake City (SLC), Denver (DEN), Billings (BIL) international airports

CROSS-CONTINENTAL INTERSTATES

Interstates 80, 90 and 25 connect each region and attract visitors from every direction

CLASS 1 RAILROADS

Burlington Northern Santa Fe (BNSF) and Union Pacific (UP)

11,307,44

Customers live within 8 hours of Wyoming. Live and roam.